Care Tips

Trim or prune your plants once the flowers and leaves start turning brown or yellow. To overwinter plants in a bog area, trim the dead foliage to 1-2" above the top of the water. Plants in planting containers or on plant shelves, trim the dead foliage to 1-2" before lowering them into deeper. Retrieve the submerged plants in Spring. If you are in zones 6 and warmer, you may leave the plant in place without moving them, and there will be no problems.
